Train Bearing Laborers Ambushed by Mob.

THIRTEEN ARE INJURED

Attack on Special Over Louisville and Nashville, Carrying Strike-breakers for Coal Mines, Is Made Near Blount-Ties Piled on Tracks to Halt Locomotive—Ammunition Includes Bird Shot and Wire Nails.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 9.—Three men killed, two fatally wounded, and thirteen others more or less seriously wounded as the result of an attack to-day on a special train of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, carrying strike-breakers to the mines of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company in Bibb County.

A detachment of Company L, First Alabama Regiment, a number of deputy sheriffs, and several officials of the Tennessee company were on the train with the strike-breakers.

The attack was made within a mile or two of Blount, where the mines are located. Some bridge timber was placed on the track, and when the engine slackened the train, men, supposed to be striking miners, fired on the coaches from a little hill. It was a big volley, and was followed by a second and a third and a fourth, all kinds of missiles being used, from birdshot to spikes.

Conductor a Washington Man.

Conductor Joseph Collins, of Washington, D. C., in charge of the train; Deputy Sheriff O. Z. Dent and Willard Howell, a laborer, were instantly killed; two members of the militia, badly injured; Maj. F. C. Dodge, superintendent of labor for the Tennessee Company, dangerously wounded; Superintendent Cox, of the Tennessee Company, and three deputy sheriffs, shot in the back; three strike-breakers seriously wounded, and others more or less hurt.

The train did not stop when the timber was struck, and it was some minutes later when it was backed to where the attack was made. The attacking party in the meantime had made good their escape into the woods. Messages were sent to the city and re-enforcements, with bloodhounds, sent out, but it was six hours after the attack that the dogs were placed on the trail.

Five Arrests Made.

Five arrests were made, and for a while there was intense excitement. The suspects, however, proved their whereabouts during the night, and were released. Others are being picked up and made to show where they were during last night.

Gov. Comer announced to-day that he would increase the militia in the Alabama coal district to 1,000 men. Martial law may be declared to-morrow.

The body of Collins will be sent to Washington, D. C., for interment.

ZEALAND ENTERTAINS FLEET.

People Try Hard to Make Sailors' Visit Memorable One.

Auckland, New Zealand, Aug. 9.—A most enthusiastic welcome has been extended to the officers and crews of the visiting American battle ships.

The city is crowded with visitors from all parts of North Island, and there are many from Christ Church and other places on South Island, and every one is doing their best to make the visit of the fleet a memorable one. All the newspapers publish long articles welcoming the Americans.

The press of Christ Church seizes the occasion to denounce the alliance between Great Britain and Japan, which has never been popular with the Australasians, and it predicts a struggle for the mastery of the Pacific with Great Britain and the United States as logical allies against Japan.

The voyage of the fleet from Honolulu was marked by no noteworthy incident, excepting two days of rough weather off the coast of New Zealand. Battle evolutions were carried out by the ships every day.

Rear Admiral Sperry was given a most cordial reception by the governor, Lord Plunkett, and other colonial officials. He said the greetings extended to the fleet were even more enthusiastic than those received on the West coast of America.

He added that he was keenly interested in the visit to Australasia, which he saw forty years ago. He appreciated the opportunity for a better acquaintance with the people with whom Americans feel they are closely related.

The fleet engineer says the machinery of all the ships is in excellent order.

NOT EVEN A SUICIDE.

Supposed Corpse Was Only a Related Celebrator.

Great was the commotion and perturbation at the Ninth Police Precinct this morning about 1 o'clock when Benjamin F. Edwards, a real estate dealer, living in Langdon, telephoned that a man had committed suicide at Fifteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast.

Doubtless great was the disgust and chagrin of Lieut. Falvey, the ambulance surgeon of the Casualty Hospital, and two drivers when they returned from Fifteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast two hours later.

There was no suicide.

Albert Copley, engineer on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, thirty-three years old, living at Nineteenth and Bryan streets northeast, had merely been celebrating.

Arrived at the designated spot, Lieut. Falvey and the surgeon were met by Mr. Edwards who telephoned that the "suicide" had recovered and gone home.

NOT OPPOSED TO DIAZ.

Gen. Reyes Wants Mexican President Re-elected.
Mexico City, Aug. 9.—Gen. Bernardo Reyes, former minister of war, and for many years governor of the state of Nueva Leon, has declared that he is not a candidate for the Presidency.

He insists that President Diaz, for the general good of the country, should reconsider his recently announced decision of retiring when his present term of office expires, in October, 1910.

Gen. Reyes takes the view that President Diaz, despite his seventy-eight years, is strong in mind and body and able to give the country several more years of service.

TAFT IS HAUNTED
BY WEST VIRGINIA

Warring Factions to Follow Ohioan to His Resort.

BOTH WANT RECOGNITION

Swisher and Scherr, Through Representatives, Declare They Will Not Withdraw from Gubernatorial Race—Candidate Declares He Will Take No Part in the Fight.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 9.—The two Republican factions in West Virginia are planning to make life merry for Mr. Taft at Hot Springs for the next three or four days.

They have been doing their best for the last twenty-four hours to keep him in hot water at this resort, and to-night they are packing up their deeds to be ready to follow him in the morning over into Virginia.

The controlling desire of each faction is to crowd the other away from the Republican national pie counter. Both Republican nominees for governor declare absolutely that they will not withdraw from the race, but both also want the support of the national committee, and Mr. Taft has declined to interfere. But while there is life there is hope. Hence the pilgrimage to Hot Springs.

The Republican nominee did not want to be drawn into the West Virginia mess. He stipulated before he left Hot Springs that politics should be eliminated from the West Virginia trip and that he should not be asked to make a speech.

Scott Calls Conference.

Senator Nathan B. Scott, however, went ahead and called a conference of State leaders, and naturally Mr. Taft had to attend. But he quickly cut short any hope that may have arisen in the bosoms of the Swisher leaders by telling them that it would not be proper for him to take a hand in the fight. Peace was necessary, but it was up to them to arrange the details.

It was about 12 o'clock last night when Mr. Taft met the representatives of the two factions. He left them after this announcement to wrangle among themselves and retired to his cottage. The meeting this morning, and at the end things stood just where they were in the beginning.

Arnold C. Scherr, the nominee who bolted the regular convention, refused, through his representatives, to consider any proposition to withdraw as long as Charles W. Swisher, the regular nominee, remains in the field.

No Chance, Says Swisher.

Swisher, on the other hand, would listen to no suggestion that they both retire and yield the field to a new candidate. Not only did Swisher refuse to retire, but he would not consent to the use of the names of the regular Presidential regulars on the Scherr ticket. The electors themselves, the Swisher people contended, would not consent to have their names appear along with that of Scherr.

Swisher himself paced the hotel veranda waiting for the adjournment of the conference, having withdrawn so as not to handicap any of his opponents who might desire to say a thing or two about him. Scherr was represented at the meeting by George McIntosh, secretary of the Scherr State organization. Both factions remained over to-day, each keeping a watchful eye on the other; but Mr. Taft stuck to his cottage pretty closely, and there was no opportunity to pull him into a confab.

But when Frank H. Hitchcock, the Republican national chairman, gets to Hot Springs on Tuesday or Wednesday, to confer with Mr. Taft, there will be some great maneuvering.

Among other West Virginians who will march on to Hot Springs are Mr. Swisher and Mr. Scherr.

POLITICAL PUSH BALL.

HARD LINES FOR COMPLAINANT

Costs Him Five Dollars to Cause Salesman's Arrest.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—While walking along Market street, Camden, yesterday, Policeman Lyons was called upon by Wilbur R. Brice, proprietor of a restaurant near Front street, to arrest John Kissinger, a salesman, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

"If I arrest him you will have to be arrested, too," said the policeman, "because from what I have seen you appear to be equally at fault."

Both men were sent to the City Hall, where they left security for a hearing later in the day. The salesman was in the police court, Camden, yesterday, but as Brice had not arrived to make a complaint the salesman's security was returned and he left the hall. Five minutes later the restaurant man appeared in the courtroom and was surprised that the $5 he left as security was forfeited to the city.

ACCUSED BY STOCKHOLDERS

Washington Life Insurance Man Arrested in Philadelphia.

William McDonald Is Charged by Wilkesbarre Citizens with Conspiracy to Defraud.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—On twenty-eight warrants, charging him with conspiracy to cheat and defraud and false pretense, sworn to by fourteen prominent citizens of Wilkesbarre, William McDonald, president of the Life Underwriters' Company of America, formerly secretary and treasurer of the Capital Life Insurance Company, was arrested in this city. At a hearing before Magistrate Scott, he was held under $4,000 bail.

The charges on which Mr. McDonald was arrested center around the business of the Capital Life Insurance Company, which had its home offices at Washington. The company, it was asserted, was organized several years ago by a number of prominent insurance men, and stock was sold to prominent citizens of this city and large towns throughout Pennsylvania.

According to Mr. McDonald, after being in existence for a short time, the officers decided to have the company incorporated in Pennsylvania, because the majority of the stockholders resided in this State. Application was made, and in the meantime, it is said, the business of the company fell off. At a meeting of the board of directors it was voted, he says, that an application for a receiver be made. This was done in the District of Columbia.

When notified of this action, stockholders residing in Wilkesbarre made a concerted demand for the money they had invested, but then declare they received no satisfaction. Warrants were then sworn out.

REPULSED, HE KILLS WOMAN.

New York Hospital Employee Also Shoots Baby and Self.

New York, Aug. 9.—Ernest Seitz, employed in a hospital as a foreman, shot and killed Mrs. Bertha Hood and seriously wounded her year-and-a-half old baby girl at her home in Brooklyn to-night, and then shot himself when he found the police were on their way.

Mrs. Hood for some time lived with her husband, but separated from him just after her baby was born, and took boarders. Among these boarders was Seitz, who at once began to pay her attentions. His conduct became so obnoxious to her that she finally moved to another address, where she thought Seitz could not find her.

The man was seen around the neighborhood about 7 o'clock, but no one paid any attention to him, though they noticed that he walked up and down the block until nearly 9:30. Then he went to Mrs. Hood's door and pulled the bell. When Mrs. Hood answered the bell, Seitz drew a large revolver and fired. The bullet killed Mrs. Hood instantly.

SOLDIER ARRESTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Love Affairs of Norman Hayes Cause Trouble.

BROUGHT IN FROM FORT HUNT

Complaint Made by Mrs. Mabel C. Hayes, of Maryland Avenue Northeast, Induces Police to Act—Accused Wooer to Be Arraigned in Court To-day—Wedding Spoiled.

The love affairs of sailors have been described in song and story from time immemorial. A soldier has now come to the front, who, according to the police, is no laggard in affairs of the heart.

While he cannot be said to have a love in every port, he has at least three within a radius of 100 miles. The number of entanglements, however, led to the arrest of this brave soldier last night on a charge of bigamy. Only his arrest, said the detectives, prevented him adding a third wife to the list.

Attired in the uniform of the coast artillery, Norman L. Hayes, alias John L. Sanford, alias Charles Reynolds, was brought to this city late last night by Central Office Detectives Evans and O'Dea to face a charge of bigamy preferred by his first wife, Mrs. Mabel C. Hayes, of 61 Maryland avenue northeast. Hayes was locked up at the First precinct station, and probably will be arraigned in the Police Court to-day.

Married Miss Latham.

Hayes was arrested on a warrant charging that he married Miss Mabel C. Latham, of Washington, on July 15, 1907, and, without going through the formality of getting a divorce, married Miss Kate Reynolds, of 434 K street northwest, on June 23 of last year. The last ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Hex Swem, of the Second Baptist Church. The detectives say that in the last few months Hayes has introduced a young woman to a number of fellow-soldiers at Fort Hunt as his fiancée, whom he expected to marry in a few days.

Hayes said last night his first wife was responsible for his marrying a second time, and that her treatment of him had goaded him to seek another woman for sympathy and affection. Exactly what she did to him, Hayes would not say. He intimated, that cold breakfasts, too many relatives, and his wife's extravagant habits had a good deal to do with the matrimonial troubles.

Married in 1903, Hayes and his wife got along well for a little more than a year. Then the sea of matrimony began to grow troubled, and, according to the prisoner's own account, he sought sympathy from the woman who, in 1907, became his second wife.

He was married to the second wife under the name of John L. Sanford. The second wife was ignorant of the existence of wife No. 1, he said. Mrs. Hayes heard of the marriage of Sanford and made trouble. Hayes says he went to her, made a clean breast of the affair, and got her to agree to say nothing if he would enlist in the army.

He Worked on a Farm.

In February last, Hayes went to Clarendon, Va., and worked on a farm for some weeks, and at the end of the month went to Fort Hunt and enlisted in the Forty-seventh Coast Artillery, under the name of Charles Reynolds.

Reynolds had not been a soldier long, when he was frequently seen with a young woman, whom he told his companions he intended marrying in a short time. According to comrades of Hayes, or Reynolds, the wedding would have taken place in a few days if the detectives had not appeared on the scene and arrested the soldier.

It is entirely due to the efforts of Mrs. Hayes No. 1 that her husband was arrested.

Summer Special—50c for Penns. Worth 75c and 50c. Blackstone, 14th and H.

rested. Mrs. Hayes had knowledge of his having enlisted in the army, and was not content until she had learned where he was stationed. Several days ago she learned he was at Fort Hunt, and after making sure such was a fact, notified the police.

Yesterday the police communicated with Lieut. Le Cole, of Fort Hunt, and learned Hayes was an enlisted man. The authorities were told the police held a warrant for Hayes, and Lieut. Le Cole said he would hold Hayes or Reynolds, until the arrival of the detectives. Evans and O'Dea went for him in the police boat Vigilant.

Hayes would not say a great deal about his case last night. He said he had ample grounds for leaving his first wife, and would demonstrate this fact in the Police Court. He said he would rather a thousand times live with the second wife than with the first. He professed to love the second wife, and could not account for his announced engagement to the girl living near the military reservation.

FOUR DIE IN NEW YORK FIRE

Young Girl and Man Leap to Death from Third Story.

Blaze Drives Occupants to the Roof of the Tenement House.

New York, Aug. 9.—Two children, a young girl, and a man were killed and several other persons were seriously hurt in a fire that ran through the tenement house at 322 East 112th street to-night about midnight.

The neighborhood poured into the streets and fired revolvers to attract the police and the reserves were turned out from all the Harlem precincts.

The fire started in the basement, and the tenants found themselves penned in on the upper floors. Before the firemen could aid them in any way Carmella Carlette, a young girl, jumped from a third-story window and was killed. She was followed almost immediately by a man, later identified as Luke Bittella, who also was killed.

Battalion Chief Howe got some firemen into the house, who drove the people to the roof. A boy and girl—mere children—were found dead on the top floor by the firemen, as they fought their way to the roof, and a number of badly burned men and women were carried by ladders to adjoining roofs and sent to the Harlem Hospital.

LEAVES NOTE FOR CORONER.

Woman Ends Life and Asks that There Be No Autopsy.

New York, Aug. 9.—When Edward Keonigsfest, who runs a hat cleaning establishment at 109 West 194th street, came home this afternoon, he found his wife, Sadie Keonigsfest, lying on the floor clad in her nightgown and dead. The police found a large envelope containing three letters, which established a clear case of suicide. One letter read:

"I do not desire that my body be cut up. I have committed suicide. I have taken oxalic acid. It is my last request, coroner, that you will not have an autopsy performed upon me. I do this because I have had nothing but stomach trouble for many years."

The petition touched Coroner Harbinger, and he promised Keonigsfest that he would allow no autopsy since he considered it a clear case of suicide.

Holds Rattler Record.

Penfield, Pa., Aug. 9.—Samuel Benst, of Lawrence Township, Clearfield County, has made the high record for several years past of rattlesnakes killed in one day. While ranging the barrens for huckleberries, he killed nine rattlers in six hours.

JOIN C. P. STRIKERS.

Three Hundred Steamfitters Decide to Do No Work.

Ottawa, Ontario, Aug. 9.—Three hundred employees of the Canadian Pacific Railroad car shops at Montreal, steamfitters, have joined the strike. There are no concessions on either side.

The Canadian press is almost a unit in the assertion that the needs of the public at large demand that the highest authority in the land should make a special effort to settle the trouble at once.

NO MAIL TO VENEZUELA.

Holland Cuts Off Communication with Castro's Republic.

London, Aug. 9.—A dispatch to the Telegraph from The Hague says the post-office announces that there will be no more mails from the Netherlands for Venezuela until further notice.

The correspondent adds that he hears the war ship Friesland is preparing to proceed to Venezuelan waters.

WAR SHIP HITS SCHOONER.

German Freya Runs Down American Fishing Vessel.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Aug. 9.—The German war ship Freya, which arrived this afternoon from Fayal, ran down the American fishing schooner Maggie May yesterday on the Banks of Newfoundland. Nine of the crew of thirteen on the schooner were lost and four saved.

There was a fog at the time. Capt. Eric McCathran, of the schooner, was among the lost.

MEN FAINT AT BALL GAME.

S. Louis Fans Go Wild When Hobe Ferris Gets a Home Run.

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—Never before was excitement so intense in the American League grounds as to cause men to faint until to-day.

The game progressed in usual style until the eighth inning, with St. Louis getting the worst of it. In that inning Hobe Ferris, the Browns' third baseman, with three men on bases, clouted out a home run, and the grand stand and bleachers went wild. Men fainted from sheer excitement, and the attendance of physicians was required in half a dozen cases. St. Louis won the game, 3 to 2.

AUTO TURNS OVER;
TWO ARE KILLED

Catholic Priest One of the Victims of Ohio Tragedy.

CAR FALLS DOWN A HILL

Machine Owned and Driven by Charles Pohlman, a Wealthy Cleveland Man. Wrecked When It Turns Turtle as He Tries to Avoid Hole in Road—Women and Man Escape.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Two were killed and three just escaped death this noon when the big touring car owned and driven by Charles Pohlman, a wealthy Cleveland merchant, turned turtle down an embankment near Sylvania.

Pohlman and Rev. Father George Vehey, of Cleveland, formerly a priest in Boston, were the victims, while the survivors are Mrs. Pohlman and her young daughter, Florence, and Dr. F. C. Deitzel, also of Cleveland, who was the guest of Miss Pohlman.

The accident occurred at the approach to a bridge, where the road was rough and narrow. A deep hole, filled with water, was in the center of the road, and in trying to avoid this Pohlman shot the machine to the edge of the road. The dirt gave way and the front of the car shot over the edge of the embankment, which was hidden by the undergrowth along the roadside.

Rear Wheel Hits Rut.

Just as the front wheel went over the bank, the rear wheel hit the hole in the road and the car was literally bounced into the air with such force that it commenced to turn, and rolled down the steep bank.

As it struck the bottom, Father Vehey's head was crushed as he hit a big stone. Pohlman was killed by becoming entangled in the steering wheel and post. His neck was broken.

The high sides and back of the tonneau saved the lives of the two women and Dr. Deitzel.

A pathetic feature of the tragedy was the frantic action of the wife as she knelt and clung to the bruised form of her husband as it lay in the road, while her daughter lay fainting at the side of the road, when the bodies were lifted out.

The accident was due in the first instance to the misdirection of the party by some ignorant man. They were on the way to Lansing, Mich. They left Cleveland Saturday afternoon.

HARRIMAN INVADES MEXICO.

Magnate Will Get Concession Given to Col. W. C. Greene.

Mexico City, Aug. 9.—It is reported that application soon will be made to the Mexican government for a transfer of the concession now held by Col. W. C. Greene for building an extension of the Rio Grande, Sierra Madre and Pacific Railroad to E. H. Harriman and associates.

H. R. Nickerson, president of the road, is said to have effected financial arrangements for the early building of the extension. It is said that Mr. Harriman and his associates have become financially interested in the project, and that the road will be used to obtain an east-west outlet to the United States by way of El Paso for the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific system, which the Harriman interests are building in Western Mexico.

The proposed extension will cross the Sierra Madre and will connect with the Cananea branch of the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific at or near Tonicich, state of Sonora. The estimated cost of this extension is $5,000,000 gold. By building this extension and acquiring the completed portion of this road, the Harriman lines in Mexico will become a direct competitor with the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, which is being built across the same stretch of country.

YATES IS BEATEN
IN ILLINOIS RACE

Early Morning Returns Show Deneen Is Named.

MAJORITY NOW IS 17,730

Former Governor Refuses to Concede Defeat.

Senator Albert J. Hopkins Gains Approximately 1,000 Votes in More Complete Count—Plurality Now Appears to Be About 18,100 in 91 Out of 102 Counties in the State—Adlai Stevenson Defeats J. Ham, Lewis.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The renomination of Gov. Charles S. Deneen was placed beyond doubt by returns which came in to-night. The vote was obtainable in more than sixty-five counties.

This, with estimates based on the majorities received by the two candidates in other counties, gives the following result, which may be accepted as approximately accurate:

Deneen 176,557
Yates 158,827

Deneen's majority 17,730
Senator Albert J. Hopkins gained approximately 1,000 votes in to-night's more complete count.

His plurality over George Edmund Foss now appears to be about 18,100 in 91 out of the 102 counties in the State.

At the same time, L. B. Stringer kept up his gains for the Democratic nomination, incomplete returns from fifty-two counties giving him an estimated plurality over Adlai Blakeley of 6,637. As far as reported, Mr. Blakeley has failed to win a single county.

Vote for Candidate.

The estimated vote of the Republican candidates in ninety-one counties follows:

Hopkins 113,555
Foss 101,499
Mason 62,133
Webster 8,700

The total vote of the two Democratic candidates in fifty-two counties was:

Stringer 74,225
Blakeley 67,588

Decisive as the Republican vote at the polls on Saturday may seem, Representative Foss has not yet given up hope of gaining the nomination for the Senate.

Senator Hopkins admittedly has won by a big plurality at the polls, but the Foss forces are relying on the victories they claim they have won in the legislative districts.

Both Sides Claim It.

Never before in the history of Illinois has an election been so hotly contested as was the primary election held here yesterday.

At midnight Gov. Deneen and former Gov. Yates claim the Republican nomination for governor, the former by a plurality of 5,000, while the Yates leaders claim the election of the latter by 3,500.

Senator Hopkins has a small plurality for the Senatorial nomination over Representative Foss, former Senator Mason, and others, the fight being so close that the legislature may be called upon to decide it.

Senator Hopkins' opponents claim that not having a majority of the votes cast, the people have expressed no choice.

Returns are slow in coming in, and twenty-four hours after the election it is impossible to determine with any degree of certainty the election or defeat of any of the Republican candidates.

The Democratic returns seem to point clearly to the selection of the following: Governor—Adlai Stevenson.
